Governor Elect Hunt Faces New Trouble

Whether the state printing shall be included among the spoils to be doled out by the new governor in payment of political debts or whether the office of state printer shall be created and the printing done at a state printing office in the make-up and operation of which politics will have no place, is one of the many vital questions to be decided at the first session of the legislature. It is natural that the Democratic newspapers of the state should vigorously oppose the suggestion of a state printer, for each newspaper hopes to get a slice of, if not the whole printing pie, and the governor elect is confronted with the certain fate of being cussed if he does and cussed if he don't.

Funeral Services For Bishop Kendrick

The funeral of the late J. Mills Kendrick, bishop of New Mexico, took place in Phoenix at 2:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the remains were laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

The remains were accompanied to Phoenix by Mrs. D. M. Campbell, sister of the deceased.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Atwood, bishop of Arizona.

Woman of 95 Still Good Shot

Sellingsgrove, Pa., Dec. 19.—Mrs. Jane B. Bourbach, of this place, who passed the ninety-fifth milestone of this week, celebrated the anniversary of her natal day by hitting a half dollar with a bullet from a revolver at a distance of forty feet. In fact, shooting is one of her most delightful diversions, and each day she shoots at a mark just to prove that her sight is still good.

This remarkable woman does her own housework. Each night she retires at 8:00 o'clock and rises at 4:00. This has been her schedule for many years.

Startling Story

Douglas, Dec. 19.—Private detectives working for Arizona corporations reported to-day that within the past two months they had reason to believe 30,000 rifles had been taken across the border into Mexico. They were not taken across in the ordinary manner by paying duty. Fifteen hundred of these they declared were taken by way of Douglas alone.

Eagle Pass, Tex., is said to be the only port on the American border through which no arms have as yet been smuggled.

Plan Big Pipe Line

Oxnard, Dec. 19.—Work is to be commenced within the next few days on an immense pipe line system and reservoir for the irrigation of a large tract of land in the Moorpark section, recently acquired by a number of prominent ranchers of this district, who have incorporated as the Citrus Height Development company.

The company intends planning the several hundred acres to lemons, and plans one of the biggest ranches of the kind in the country. The irrigation system will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Good Road Boosters Meeting in Phoenix

WESTERN UNION WIRE

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 20.

Yuma Daily Examiner, Yuma.

Full representation from three states at Southwestern Good Roads Association meeting here to-day. ROAD ASSURED from PHOENIX TO YUMA.

R. A. McPHERSON,
J. A. KETCHERSIDE.

Phoenix, 1:34 p. m.

The delegates to the tri-state good roads convention are meeting in Phoenix to-day and to-morrow.

The convention was called to order this morning at 10 o'clock by Governor Sloan.

T. G. Norris, of Prescott, and president of the Arizona Good Roads Association, will preside at the meetings.

To-morrow evening the delegates will be entertained at a banquet by the City Club.

An automobile trip over the Salt River valley will also be one of the features of to-morrow's program.

As the above telegram indicates Dr. J. A. Ketcherside and R. A. McPherson are representing Yuma county and the fact that the territorial road from Phoenix to Yuma is assured, will be enough to make every Yuma booster and every citizen in this city dance with joy.

The territorial road from Phoenix to Yuma not only means that a permanent highway will be constructed, but it means that it will be a highway that can be traveled in a small electric runabout or any ordinary automobile.

It will mean that all automobile tourists from the east will be routed through Yuma.

It will mean that if any one desires they can start and drive from Yuma to Phoenix, camping out along the way and enjoying the never ending wonders of the beautiful mountain scenery.

It will mean much increased business for Yuma; it will mean that in addition to the great work being done here by the government, and the money being spent here, that several thousand dollars will be spent in Yuma as the result of the building of the road, to say nothing of the good results to come after the road is completed.

To the Yuma boosters who have worked long and hard and earnestly for this much to be desired consummation, all thanks are due, as well as to the loyal Yuma boosters who are now in Phoenix, Messrs. McPherson and Ketcherside.

Wedding Bells

Last night at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. C. Jones, occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Jones and Charles J. White, both well known young people of Yuma.

Rev. C. G. Coulter performed the ceremony and quite a number of the friends and relatives were present at the wedding.

The young couple were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents.

The bride is extremely popular among a wide circle of friends in Yuma and is a musician of rare talent and ability.

The groom is a well known employee of the S. P. company.

The happy couple left last night for Chandler, Oklahoma, where they will spend a month with the parents of the groom, after which they will return to Yuma and make their future home here.

Before they left last night they were treated to a chivari by a host of their friends and escorted to the train amid showers of rice and old shoes.

Joe Redondo Back From Mexican Line

Joe Redondo came in yesterday from a trip he made to the Mexican line with a party of engineers and surveyors under the guidance of an Austrian engineer.

Mr. Redondo left the party at Monument 204, along the Sonora border.

The party are provisioned to spend something over a month in that vicinity, and Mr. Redondo states that they will probably establish a camp about seven miles across the line in Sonora. The Austrian engineer represents the widow of Don Manuel Martinez del Rio, deceased, who owned a large grant of land just east of the Andrade grant, and the whole grant will be carefully gone over and surveyed.

Aviator Fowler Is Nearing New Orleans

The Tucson Citizen says:

Aviator Robt. G. Fowler is keeping Tucson friends posted on the progress he is making through Louisiana on his ocean to ocean flight. The aviator, who has had unusually hard luck is now nearing New Orleans.

Must Pay Fine or Stay in Jail

Lincoln Center, Kan., Dec. 19.—Sheriff Clark and John Schmidt, under conviction of tarring Miss Mary Chamberlain, have been sentenced to $2,000 fine and costs, or to remain in jail until the fine is paid.

After the sentence Clark denied that he and others implicated in the tarring had settled with Miss Chamberlain for $25,000. Clark and Schmidt gave bail and returned to their homes.

Democratic Quarters Are Still Open

The Arizona Democrat says:

Chairman John J. Birdno, of the Democratic state central committee, will return to-night to his home in Safford. It will be a month before he returns. This does not mean however, that there will be no Democratic headquarters in the city. Headquarters will be opened in the Lewis block, over the Arizona Mercantile company, and Treasurer I. F. Wolpe will be in charge until the return of Chairman Birdno.

Secretary George Michelsen returned to Yuma some days ago and is not expected to return soon. Treasurer Wolpe will merely attend to the routine business that arises. There are many details of business connected with the recent campaign that have not yet been disposed of.

Another Yuma wedding not yet announced, is scheduled for the first of the year.

New Year Means Much For Yuma

The coming year—1912—holds much for Yuma that is rosy and bright with golden promise.

Within the first half of the coming year the great siphon under the Colorado will be completed, and the life giving water will be pouring over the hungry acres of the Yuma valley.

Never in the history of Yuma was so much work going on around the city as now; never were so many men on the pay roll of the government and the various companies doing business here on government work.

With the completion of the siphon comes the inevitable boom that must come to Yuma.

By this time next year, in fact, in the next three months, new buildings for business purposes will be started on the business streets. New businesses will be opened up; new merchants will come among us from other places and help us to swell the tide of Yuma's prosperity. Farmers and investors will be here to put in their capital into a growing community that nothing can stop; new mines will be opened up; mines that are now closed will take on a new lease of life and labor will be busy and well paid.

All this must create a demand for homes among the thrifty, and each home built in Yuma means another family to buy of Yuma merchants and to add their population to the best little city in Arizona to-day.

The man who owns property, the man who has land to sell, and the investor who has money to buy, will all reap a harvest next year and in the years to come.

It will be no mushroom boom that will strike Yuma in 1912. It will be a steady, permanent growth that will within the next two years make Yuma the largest city in Arizona, and better than that, with an agricultural country behind it that will guarantee its wealth and stability for all time to come.

Arizona Labor Will Soon Form Federation

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 19.—All labor unions in Tucson received a call yesterday from a committee of various union men in Phoenix to meet in Phoenix, January 20 for the purpose of forming a state federation of labor.

The principal object in forming the state federation is to bring before the first state legislature whatever measures seem to the unions most necessary of enactment to protect labor in the new state.

Worsley Would Be President of Senate

Tucson, Dec. 19.—The friends of A. A. Worsley, one of the recently elected Pima county senators, have started a state wide movement, having as its object the election of Mr. Worsley as president of the first state senate.

Among the claims being urged in Worsley's behalf is that he is the strongest Democrat in Pima county, a fact that was demonstrated when he secured the highest vote given any Democrat in the county, and was elected by a good majority in a county that is Republican by four or five hundred votes.

It is believed here by Mr. Worsley's friends that he will have the support of the delegations from all of the southern counties. Worsley is a progressive Democrat of the most pronounced type and his local friends claim that he will have the support of organized labor throughout the new state in his efforts to secure the presidency of the senate.
